

The present invention relates to agents and methods for growth-factor 5 receptor activation by modulating the G-protein mediated signal transduction pathway.